

30's Playtime

Linzee Kull McCray @seamswrite

Whether gathering 'round the radio to listen to Big Band music by Duke Ellington, watching a movie starring the pint-sized Shirley Temple, or simply playing a game of Drop the Handkerchief, folks in the 1930s found ways to enjoy life despite challenging times. The favored fabrics of the era brought cheer to everyday life, too; imagine red plaid curtains, pink and purple floral potholders, and beds covered in scrappy quilts made from dressmaking leftovers. These 30s Playtime fabrics in saturated pastels and primary shades will bring cheer to you and your home, too!
